

FREE Employment Contract review

Introductory offer

Having out of date or unsuitable employment contracts could create problems for your business and could lead to expensive employment disputes.

To prevent this, we are offering employers the opportunity to have your employment contract reviewed by one of our qualified solicitors entirely free of charge*. We will advise you what, if anything, needs amending and give you a cost estimate for putting things right. Up to date employment contracts help you to manage your employees better. It is advisable to review contracts on an annual basis to ensure they continue to meet your business' needs.

If you would like to take advantage of this offer, please complete the below form.
